Where Our Trees Are Planted

We plant wherever our help is needed most. Sometimes that's in far-flung destinations like Indonesia, and sometimes that's in our own backyard. Wherever our planting takes us, each project is carried out with immense care and respect for the planet and its people.

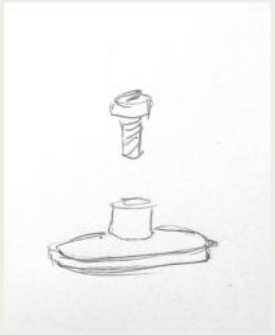
Introducing Holistic Environmentalism

At tentree, we pride ourselves on being Earth-First, always. As a giveback brand we've been that way since day one, with a constant eye on growth, evolution and innovation in our design and sustainability integrations.

Full Circle is a natural extension and deeper exploration of our brand impact within the celebration of our ten year anniversary. This story will inspire new customers to believe that big change starts small — and it starts with tentree.

These products are compostable once tags and trim is removed.



Example of this design practice is the removable shank button on the M. canvas jacket.

Heritage

For those who inherit our planet.

Heritage, simply put, is about feeling at home. Running from October to December and including Green Friday / Cyber Monday, this big brand story focuses on resting and nesting when the temperature drops.

Comfy, cozy sustainable loungewear is our bread and butter at tentree, but this season we are positioning it in a new yet familiar light for our consumer. We want to showcase our heritage as a company, while inspiring customers to explore their own personal and family heritage, too.

"Heritage" means "property that is, or may be inherited." The word heritage itself is inextricably linked to our ethos as a company. We're here to make sustainability simple, and to restore and protect our planet for the generations that will inherit it.

Kapok

Kapok has a lower environmental impact than 100% organic cotton. Let that sink in. Many of our beautiful new fabric and insulated styles are made of the cellulose fiber from the dried fruit of the Kapok tree. Silky soft and dry to the touch, Kapok makes for an ultra-cozy, Earth-First insulation in jackets, as well as a woven fabric that can be mixed with cotton.

To respect the planet and continue to take steps towards circularity, we'll be planting Kapok trees as a part of our planting program. It's one way we can say "thank you" to the earth for giving us this sustainable breakthrough.

Earth's Wool

All tentree wool is either recycled, or officially certified through the responsible wool standard (RWS). Whether we're using landfill-bound offcuts or fresh wool that's certified safe for farmers, land and sheep, our wool is the very definition of best practice. Jackets, highline and elevated accessories make it easy for you to kick back and relax in the best wool out there.
